

Abstract

Disclosed is a method of treatment of psoriasis which comprises administering to a patient in need thereof by the oral route a pharmaceutical composition comprising rosiglitazone, or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt or solvate thereof, together with a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier, wherein the method comprises administering 2 to 8 mg rosiglitazone per day.